

Dear Colleagues,

We are happy, as Ankara University, Faculty of Educational Sciences, to host the first EDUCCON Education Conference on December 7 - 8, 2017 in Ankara and to share our valuable experience and knowledge in education field with you.

We will be partner of a new conference series that reflects the scientific tradition of our faculty by bringing together all educational stakeholders who produce different conceptual solutions, models and materials.

With the rapid change in everything as well as new formations and different approaches that come up in education, there is a necessity to establish our original scientific ground as Turkey. Without a doubt, this conference will build an important scientific basis in order to create accurate and effective policies, to encourage implementations based on scientific evidences, and to produce appropriate solutions to educational problems.

Satisfying this need, we believe that EDUCCON 2017 Education Conference will encourage new initiatives and invite you, stakeholders, to join the EDUCCON 2017.

Prof. Dr. Fatma BIKMAZ (EDUCCON 2017 Chair)

Ankara University
Dean of Faculty of Educational Sciences

Dear Colleagues,

EDUCCON Education Conference is organized with the purpose of sharing the novelties in the Educational field with participating scientists, educational practitioners, institutions and foundations. We invite you to share new and specific concepts, approaches, designs, and models in Education as well as present and know other innovative products, materials, and patents.

The transformation of scientific knowledge accumulated in the field of education from theory to practice is important.

This is because the essence of scientific knowledge is not to remain at the theoretical level but be used to create innovative practices that could be relied on to address real life challenges.

This outcome-oriented approach will undoubtedly encourage initiatives that will transform education-related theoretical knowledge into practice.

We hope EDUCCON Education Conference will be a starting point of a product (outcome) oriented approach that will find innovative and authentic solutions to educational problems. We would be honored with your attendance to our conference.

Prof. Dr. Selahiddin Ögülmüş (EDUCCON Chair)
Ankara University, Faculty of Educational Sciences
