Through Yale Summer Online, Yale College courses are offered online to students who cannot travel to New Haven for our residential program. These challenging courses are taught by Yale faculty, offer Yale College credit, and provide extensive interaction with faculty and fellow students. A central component of our online courses are the synchronous discussion sessions, our virtual classroom technology complete with audio and video allows the class to come together for live discussion.

If you cannot come to campus this summer, our online courses provide you with an opportunity to earn Yale College credit wherever you may be.
